

Fiddler's Creek among top 4 percent of private clubs in the world with second Distinguished Emerald Club designation

The Club & Spa at Fiddler's Creek in Naples has once again been honored among the world's most elite private clubs. Revered by members for its resort-inspired amenities and the perennial Golfweek Magazine top-ranked Creek Course, the club was named a Distinguished Emerald Club of the World for a second consecutive year by BoardRoom magazine. The club earned the elite status following an evaluation of the member experience in 10 categories, including golf, dining, fitness and clubhouse.

The prestigious honor is attained by only 4 percent of private clubs internationally.

"Receiving the Distinguished Emerald Club designation for two consecutive years demonstrates our efforts to continually elevate the club experience for our members and their guests," said Aubrey Ferrao, CEO of Fiddler's Creek Community LLC. "We are dedicated to providing exceptional amenities and service at Fiddler's Creek, and this award recognizes and honors that commitment."

The Distinguished Club of the World program is presented by BoardRoom magazine to laud private clubs that excel at serving their members. Only clubs scoring nine or above on a 10-point system are awarded Distinguished Emerald Club status.

"We congratulate Fiddler's Creek for being named a Distinguished Emerald Club for a second year," said John Fornaro, the publisher of BoardRoom, considered the most influential trade publication in the private club industry. "Special recognition also goes to the management team, as well department heads and the entire staff, for their efforts in providing an excellent member experience."

Fiddler's Creek was considered for inclusion after receiving peer recommendations by the program's nominating committee, comprised of private club general managers and industry experts.

BoardRoom executives then visited nominated clubs, scoring them on a proprietary system focusing on food and beverage service, golf operations and courses, tennis, aquatics, spa and club facilities.

They also considered intangible qualities such as reputation, tradition, history, community, lore, and the hard-to-describe experiences that make a great club. Also important are member camaraderie and pride; management and staff's attention to quality; overall governance; and the physical environ-

"Our members have always enjoyed an unrivaled experience at The Club & Spa at Fiddler's Creek," said Ron Albeit, general manager. "Being named a Distinguished Emerald Club truly is one of the top honors a private club can receive. It really gives our members bragging rights."
